

Tobias Schuler, Head of Data & Analytics

Tobias was previously the Head of Data and Analytics at Digital Partners, a Munich Re company. Tobias led a team that built out data integrations, business intelligence and advanced analytics across all insurtech partners within North America spanning various personal and commercial lines of businesses. Tobias is also a Fellow of the Casualty Actuarial Society and focuses on adding data and analytical methods that emphasize risk differentiation. Tobias believes in democratizing data and has built systems to enable leading class insights for underwriting, actuarial, claims and finance experts. Tobias received his BMATH from the University of Waterloo in Actuarial Science with a minor in Computer Science.